Break free from the lack of portability and high weight associated with pneumatic tools. Our latest innovations, the GripPack steel strap sealer and tensioner, provide the low weight and portability that operators need but can't get with pneumatic tools. Plus they deliver maximum power and performance without the air generation costs and inconsistencies of pneumatically driven tools.

The GripPack tools' lightweight, durable design make them easy to handle and operate. With one-button operation and performance enhancing features not found on pneumatic tools, they vastly improve productivity for the application of steel strapping in heavy-duty hand tool applications.
